Subject: Awesome Addy

Dear Friends of Baronhaus Kennels;

I recently purchased a puppy from Gail and Ray. I named her Addy; she is now 4 1/2 months old. Her Dad is Dallas and her Mom is Zoe. Addy has always been fearless. But she is also loving, and minds well-even though she can be very stubborn. She has been extremely well socialized with all kinds of people, dogs, cats, horses, cows-etc. She has even gone to the Nursing Home here, and loves the elderly. She never jumps on them or makes any attempts to be rough with them at all. She has also started her puppy training even though I have been working with her from the start. She goes to work with me every day. In fact I have recently acquired another business-a Chevron Jobbership, and my experience with her there is what I want to share with you. Last Saturday my secretary and I were working on the budget when suddenly a man burst through the door, staggering and appeared very intoxicated. Addy was on her leash and lying by my side. There is no back door. Before he could get totally inside the office, Addy sprang to her feet and did something I have never seen her do nor trained her to do. She went into what I call the Rottweiler mode. She lunged for him with her teeth bared, her growl was very deep throated. My first response was to hang onto her leash, the 2nd was SHE IS ONLY 4 1/2 MONTHS OLD. She meant business and everybody in that office new that. It scared that man so bad that he ran back in the oil storage area. I told Suzanne to call 911, and Addy then positioned herself between me and the door, sideways pushing up against me, as to keep me from any danger. The police finally got there, and took him off. He told the officer, who knows Addy, that a vicious rottweiler had tried to attack him. The officer laughed at him and told him that was just a puppy. They found a knife in his pocket, but only charged him with public drunkenness since he did not have the time to do anything else. Addy saw to that. The man also had a criminal record. A few minutes later she was greeting the customers in her usual way. I am still amazed by this! I have to admit that there have been many times over the past 2 months or so, I have wondered what I got myself into. She can be very stubborn and very demanding. But my beautiful puppy pretty much saved my life and my secretary's life that day. I remember telling everybody when I sent in my deposit, that I could have adopted a baby easier than I could have Addy. HAHA I want to thank Gail and Ray for the love and devotion they have for our breed. The work they do is awesome and quite remarkable. Should you be fortunate enough to receive one of their puppies, you have truly been blessed. You will find you have a superior puppy, a best friend, and protector for life.

Thank you for your time;
